

Psychology Sunset Course Policy

It is the Department's point of view that coursework older than ten years be subject to review. This is due to advancements and changes being made in the discipline, as well as time to degree completion considerations. In light of this, the Department has established the following guidelines:

- PSY 105: Introduction to Psychology normally must be retaken if it is over 10 years of age. Exceptions may apply (e.g., continuous enrollment with academic progress).
- Other coursework over ten years of age may sometimes be counted if Psy 105: Introduction to Psychology is retaken.
- Coursework may be reviewed by members of the faculty in cases of special circumstances.
- Undergraduate Program Advisors will coordinate faculty reviews on behalf of students.

This policy is designed to ensure that students have the most relevant information in their chosen discipline. Questions regarding this policy should be directed to an Undergraduate Program Advisor in the Psychology Department.
